of the big book is the most costly and elegant that could have been devised. The covers are of red oak, beautifully carved. On the front in bold relief is a picture of the big bridge, with the city of St. Louis in the distance. Just below the bridge in the right-hand corner is a copy of the seal of St. Louis. Above the bridge is the inscription, "To President Cleveland and Wife."

The back cover has engraved on it a ring, within which, in relief, is a picture of the St. Louis Court-house. Above the date, "1887."

At the four corners of the cover, on black and front, are heavy buttons of silver on which the book costs and the date of the binding are inscribed from scratches.

The back of the book is of handsome heavy French calf.

The elasp which holds the two covers together is a beautiful piece of work. It is of solid silver, cut into the monogram "G. C." nearly six inches long. Within the cover is bound in white moire antique. In the center of the front cover on the inside is a heavy plate of solid silver bearing the inscription:

The Exchange Asked to Indorse the Air Line Project.

A meeting of the Executive Board of the Merchant's Exchange Transportation Committee will hold a special called meeting on Monday. There are two subjects to be discussed. The Big Book Taken on "Change To-Day and to-morrow" by the Merchants—It is Now on Exhibition on Olive Street—The Mayor and a Select Delegation to Go to Washington in a Special Car To-Morrow Night.

The binding of the popular invitation to President Cleveland was completed at noon to-day, and shortly after that hour Festus J. Wade, Secretary of the Am. & Gast Bank Note and Lithographing Company, took it on "Change. The merchants crowded about it and expressed their admiration of it in extravagant terms. Some insisted on looking for their names, but as the leaves which it took days to clean were in danger of being soiled in the inspection, the privilege was finally denied. The curious had their curiosity pretty well satisfied, though, by the inspection of the outer cover of the book.

When 1 o'clock came the book was taken in charge by Mr. Wade, who, accompanied by a select guard of honor, took it up Olive street and placed it in the corner shop window of Barr's establishment on Sixth and Olive streets. Here it was carefully arranged in an upright position with a mirror behind it, so that both sides of it could be seen from the street. A card placed beside it announced its nature, and the fact that it contained 40,000 signatures.

COERCING IRELAND.

THE MANNER OF CONDUCTING INQUIRIES UNDER THE CRIMES BILL.

Farnell's Illness Seriously Hampering the Irish Party—Gladstone Abandons the Idea of an American Tour—Gen. Boulanger's Popularity—A Lively Meeting of the Toronto Board of Trade—Foreign News.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch. LONDON, May 20.—The following are passages of the first clause of the crimes bill, as brought in and amended, which completes the bill with the portion sent yesterday as brought in. "Section 3.—A witness examined under this section shall not be excused from answering any question on the ground that his answer thereof may criminate or tend to criminate himself, but any statement made by any person in answer to any question put to him on any examination under this section, shall not, except in case of indictment or other criminal proceedings for perjury, be admissible in evidence against him in any proceedings, civil or criminal.

"4.—The magistrate who conducts the examination under this section, of the person concerned in any offense shall not, if such offense is punishable on summary conviction, take part in the hearing and determination of the charge for that offense, and shall not, if such offense is an indictable offense, take part in committing for trial such person for such offense."

THE AMENDED SECTION. The following is a continuation of the section as amended. "A witness examined under this section shall not be excused from answering any question on the ground that his answer thereof may criminate or tend to criminate himself, provided that a witness who answers truly all questions which he is required to answer shall be entitled to a certificate of indemnity under the hand of the magistrate making such examination, stating that such witness has not answered, and such certificate of indemnity shall be a bar to all criminal proceedings and proceedings for the recovery of any penalty in respect of any offense as to which such person has been examined in such inquiry.

N. B.—The answer of any person to any question put at such examination shall not, except in case of any criminal proceedings for perjury committed at or after holding of such inquiry, be, in any proceeding, civil or criminal, admissible in evidence against such person, or the husband or wife of such person.

"6.—If any person has been charged with the commission of any crime which is the subject of inquiry, no person shall be compelled to answer, who has been called to give evidence for such accused person.

"7.—Except with the consent of the person under examination, no person other than the magistrate or other official persons shall be present at such inquiry.

THE MAGISTRATE'S AUTHORITY. "8.—The magistrate who conducts the examination, under this section, of persons, concerning any offense, shall not, if such offense is punishable on summary conviction, take part in the hearing or determination of any charge for that offense, and shall not, if such offense is an indictable offense, take part in the committing for trial of such person, or the husband or wife of such person, or the taking of deposition against and committing for trial of any person charged, either in connection with such person or separately, as principal or necessary in the commission of such offense.

"9.—A witness who is examined under this section shall not be required to answer any question which he might legally refuse to answer on the ground of privilege, if he were examined as witness at the trial of an accused person.

INTERPRETERS. "10.—In case any witness under this section shall not speak English, the interpreter employed shall not be a policeman.

"11.—The Lord Lieutenant shall cause to be published in the Dublin Gazette once in every quarter, a return of all persons who have been committed to prison at any inquiry held under this clause, and who may be still detained in prison on any date, one week preceding each such publication. Such return shall contain the name, address and description of each person, the date of his commitment, the nature of the charge, the date of his examination, and if he was subsequently brought up for examination, the date on which he was last remanded."

FARNELL IN THE HOUSE. Farnell was in the House last night much muffled up. Obviously, his ill-health is the subject of general comment. His absence is very sorely felt, especially by his lieutenants. In the absence of the leader no one knows, they say, exactly what to do. There is no distribution of parts; two or three men, either by chance or design, take charge of the amendments. Those who have no amendments to take charge of feel left out in the cold; those who have amendments feel that they have got too much to do. Altogether the situation from the Home rule point of view is by no means satisfactory. The Irish members need pulling to get very badly. Farnell will do well, if on his return, he distributes the work that must be done over by a larger number of his followers, so that each may feel that he has his appointed part to play, and will be supported in playing it by the whole force of his party.

COLLECTING RENTS IN IRELAND. In Ireland the rents are being collected, but with difficulty. No special effort is being made to put the screw on the landlords preferring to wait until the coercion bill gets through, when they will be able to put a more effectual screw on the recalcitrant tenants.

THE PRIVATE INQUIRY SANCTIONED BY THE private inquiry sanctioned by the first clause is much dreaded by those who have to conduct the Irish agrarian agitation. It is probable that they will propose to meet it by a combination to refuse to give evidence. Of course, this means that those who refuse to obey the summons of the private inquiry must be prepared to go to the goal for refusing to attend the inquiry. Rather than that they should go to the goal for refusing to answer the questions put to them during the inquiry, the present intention is to band the Irish tenants together and refuse to attend when summoned to the secret inquiry. They will be arrested for contempt of court, but there is a limit to that sort of thing. If a couple thousands of tenants and priests are hung into the goal the resources of civilization in the shape of police and turnkeys will be so severely strained as to render it more than problematical whether the process will not have to end.

I can state on best authority that Gladstone has definitely and reluctantly abandoned the idea forever of visiting America.

England.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. CLEVELAND TO GO TO SARANAC LAKE.

Col. Lamont and the Interviewers—A Call to Be Issued for the Outstanding 3 Per Cent Bonds—An Official Inquiry Ordered in the Omaha Case—Appointments by the President—Washington News.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch. MALONE, N. Y., May 20.—A gentleman who is entirely sure of the facts states that the President will leave Washington next Thursday, May 25, with Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Polk, Col. Lamont and Mrs. Lamont for Saranac Lake, and will be absent from the capital about ten days. According to the assertions made by the gentleman, from whom your correspondent obtained this information, the arrangements for the trip were made some time ago by an old friend of the President, who easily induced Mr. Cleveland to consent to take the first of the fishing boat to the woods to enjoy the best of the sport. Last season, when the President was in the woods three months later the fishing was poor. Now it is represented by the few visitors who have been to Saranac Lake, that the fishing is extremely good, while there is no crowd threatening about in search of the game. It is not known yet what route the President will come by, but he will possibly enter the woods by the route of Paul Smith's. While the people at Saranac Lake were expecting a visit from the President in September, they were taken by surprise on hearing from Washington that he would give them a spring call. He will be none the less welcome as he is coming early.

LAMONT NON-COMMITTAL. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20.—Col. Lamont was hard at work at his desk in the White House late last night when the President called by the inquiry if the report from Malone that the President would make a trip to the Adirondacks next week was true. The Colonel smiled.

"Who's your Malone man?" he asked, with the evident purpose of delaying a direct reply. The inquirer did not know. The Colonel smiled more confidentially. "I don't know," he said. "The President may not be able to get away, but if he could and thought it was worth his while, I don't know but he could take care of him for a few days, I don't know but he would be tempted by the report that the fishing is good."

"But is the President going?" "I did not say he was not going?" "Will you say he is not going?" "Oh, in too late to-night to say anything. It is very warm and now that it has been suggested, I don't know that it would be a bad thing for the President to try it for a few days. I am glad to hear that he is going to take some along."

Washington's Tomb. By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20.—The attention of Mrs. Laughton, Regent of the Mount Vernon Association, was called yesterday to a statement printed by local papers, growing out of a casual remark by General Willoughby after his recent visit to the tomb of Washington. The Canon is reported to have said that a marble tomb should replace the present structure, and the account referred to assumed that many of the ladies of the board agreed with him, and that it was not a surprise if they should adopt a resolution approving to the people the idea of a new monument to the father of the country for money in that direction. Mrs. Laughton corrected this statement promptly and showed how baseless the assumption was.

The following clause in Washington's will: "The family vault at Mt. Vernon requiring repairs, and being in ruins, I desire that a new one of brick and upon a larger scale may be built at the foot of the hill called the vineyard, and that the remains which may be deposited."

AUSTIN, May 20.—The official report of the mail agent concerning the train robbery at McNeill on Wednesday night has been received. Several hundred men, armed with revolvers, three bullets entering the mail car. The clerks were ordered to throw up their hands in the face of two revolvers, and after the express car had been forced open and robbed they were told to turn over the cash and registered pouches in the postal car. The robbers were the same in both bids as type writers, and wanted to touch day money. The postal clerks told them that they had no registered pouches on that run. The only thing taken from the car was a bag belonging to one of the clerks.

A PASSENGER SHOT. Harry Land, one of the passengers in the sleeping car, was wounded in the right hand. He had placed his head out of the window and his hand on the railing. The total amount taken from the express messenger did not exceed $5,000. A very large number of the passengers were taken to the place where the train was stopped, and a reward of $500 is offered by the Pacific Express company for the arrest and conviction of each man implicated in the robbery.

The Murderous Gang of Burglars at Tionesta, Captives.
JAMES TOWN, N. Y., May 20.—Ten days ago a gang of five burglars attacked the house of Farmer Wagner, near Tionesta. The farmer and his son fought desperately and the son shot and killed one of the burglars in his tracks. Last week another of the thieves was found dead in an old deserted coal mine near by. The three other thieves were arrested three days ago and landed in jail. Yesterday a jail, sad, weary-looking man arrived by train at Tionesta and inquired if a man by the name of Haggerty had lived there. Upon learning the only person of the name was James Haggerty, one of the prisoners in jail upon the charge of burglary, the poor woman was overcome. She stated that she was Haggerty's wife; that she had come here in response to a telegram from him commanding her to come. She supposed he was sick and needed her care, so with her babe in her arms she had traveled from Hancock county, West Virginia. She said she was the mother of five children and that she had not seen her husband for over a year. Mrs. Haggerty said also that her maiden name was Dewey, that she had a relative who is a member of the Assembly of West Virginia, and is related to Chauncey M. Depew. Wilson, another of the prisoners, asserts that he is a member of the State Legislature of Pennsylvania.

A SHOCKING CRIME.

The Son of a Wealthy Man Criminally Assaults a Little Girl.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 20.—Particulars of a shocking outrage have come to light, despite the use of money and influence to hush them up. William Harris, the 15-year-old son of Hon. William A. Harris, is the accused party, and Gertrude Shaw, the 9-year-old daughter of poor Mr. Shaw, residing at Bristol, is the victim. The father of the boy is the patentee and manufacturer of the Harris-Corlies engine, a well-known well-known in political circles, having served terms in the Legislature, and being a prominent candidate for the nomination for Governor at the last Republican convention. The Harris family were residing at the time at the Harris-Corlies house, a fine residence on the corner of Broad and Washington streets. The young scoundrel came across little Gertrude playing with some companions. He enticed her to a secluded spot. Her little playmates heard her shriek, but before they reached her the boy had overcome her and terribly abused her. There had been a terrible struggle, and the boy fled away with a broken arm. James H. Shaw, the father of the girl, was most frantic and was with difficulty restrained from at once seeking out and killing the monster. He was told that young Harris would be arrested, but he is still at large, and it is hinted that money has been paid to keep the monster quiet, and $1,000 paid to the outraged parents.

FOUND IN A WELL.

A Circular Pit Near Sinclairville Discovered Full of Human Bones.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
JACKSONVILLE, N. Y., May 20.—In opening a well near Sinclairville yesterday, workmen came upon a quantity of stone implements, and, extending the investigation, a circular pit, six feet in diameter, was uncovered, filled with human bones. Contrary to the usual custom of the mound-builders, these bones were thrown in promiscuously. Seven skulls were found, together with the thigh bones, vertebrae, jaw-bones and femora. An effort will be made to pick out a full skeleton, but it is not probable that this will be accomplished. Two steel knives were found, one eleven and the other twelve inches long. They were one and one-half and two inches wide and were shaped like hunting knives, with a guard to protect the hand, and a narrow blade designed to fit into one of wood. Both had the inscription near the handle "Sabatier-Rue St. Honoré 18." Further up the blade was the representation of a human hand surrounded by the words "A Paris." No date was given. A human skull was found a little removed from them. The bones of the lower jaw were found well-preserved and a portion of the upper jaw and the teeth and the upper part of the skull. The skull was evidently that of a middle-aged person, possibly an Indian.

Last Sunday's papers contained an account of the divorce proceeding brought by a worthy lady and in which Rev. Dr. W. W. Boyd testified to her exonerated worth. During all this trouble one of her two sons was taken ill and yesterday was laid away by Mr. Whittier, in Bellefontaine. Trouble seldom comes singly.

The Gamblers Must Go.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 20.—The Superintendent of Police last night visited the gambling-houses and notified the proprietors that they must close within a week. If they are found open after next Thursday night they will be "pulled," and their paraphernalia confiscated. The proprietors in each instance agreed to obey the law. The police commissioner will next turn his attention to the saloons and compel them to close promptly at midnight and stay closed on Sundays.

"A Word to the Wise is Sufficient."
Ostarth is not simply an inconvenience, unpleasant to the sufferer, and disgusting to others—it is an insidious poison of approachable disease of worse type. Do not neglect its warning; it brings deadly evils in its train. Before it is too late use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It reaches the seat of the ailment, and is the only thing that will. You may dose yourself with quack medicine till you are late—till the strangles become a relentless torment. It is the matured invention of a scientific physician. A word to the wise is sufficient.

ST. LOUIS TERMINALS.

AN IMPORTANT CONFERENCE OF MERCHANTS AND RAILROAD MEN.

President Strong of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Favors the New Bridge—A Most Advantageous Plan Suggested by Him—The Fixed Charges and Expenses to Be Guaranteed by the Roads Using the New Bridge—The Central Missouri, and C. B. & Q. Favorable to the Plan—Big Advantages Offered to St. Louis.

A most important conference was held Wednesday between the gentlemen interested in the Merchant's Bridge & Terminal Company. Present, W. B. Strong of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, and the officials of the Central Missouri railroad. The conference was an informal one, and was held in President Strong's room at the Southern Hotel. On the part of the Terminal Company were Seth W. Cobb, Mayor Francis, Maj. C. O. Reinswater, Mr. John D. Perry was present on the part of the Central Missouri, while the other gentlemen, appearing for the Central Missouri, were Mr. Frank C. Hollins, Vice-President and the Vanderbilt brokers in New York and Mr. E. J. Brown, the St. Louis agent, who is one of the chief advisers of the Vanderbilt interests. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the question of terminals here and the new bridge, and was one of the chief reasons that President Strong came to St. Louis. The St. Louis Kansas City & Colorado Road, which is now in process of construction, is backed by the Atchison and is its proposed terminus for the line to Chicago, but also the formation of a combination by which it can have a free way to the Atlantic. The St. Louis & O. interests are friendly to the Atchison plan, but the latter is getting into and through St. Louis cheaply and conveniently. The new Colorado road is being built slowly, no contracts having been made beyond Union, and the Atchison people are making a strong effort to keep the bridge map, but a very satisfactory understanding has been arrived at.

The terminal representatives showed their bridge charter to President Strong and the other gentlemen, and explained the same, which they are asking from the Municipal Assembly. The President and Messrs. Hollins and Scribner were pleased with the plan, and were told that no special privileges could be given to any one road, but that all could use the bridge on equal terms, and that the bridge could not possibly be controlled by any one road, but that the owners of the bridge would be controlled by the terms of the franchise.

MR. STRONG SAID

he was perfectly satisfied with the terms, and all he wanted was the assurance that he would have all the facilities he needed for the same basis as any other road. He said he could now make favorable terms with Mr. Gould for the use of the bridge, and he preferred to have a new bridge if possible, and he wanted to get out of the old creek valley, where he could get as much room as he wanted. He said that he contemplated using the bridge for his own depot, and he occupied for his own depot, and if the franchise were granted the Terminal Company would have the advantage of bringing St. Louis into connection with Chicago, such a system can scarcely be estimated. Last year the Atchison expended $50,000,000 and this year would expend $27,000,000 on new lines. St. Louis had only to say the word and bring the bridge into use, and the people said their road was held at St. Charles until it was learned what the city would do about the Terminal Company. President Strong, Mr. Hollins and Mr. Scribner were pleased with the plan, and were told that no special privileges could be given to any one road, but that all could use the bridge on equal terms, and that the bridge could not possibly be controlled by any one road, but that the owners of the bridge would be controlled by the terms of the franchise.
